Yearbook was then funner than English, I didn't think that was possible. If I have any problems I'll be sure and come to you.
Love ya,

Mrs. Armstrong.
The yearbook really turned out great this year! Clive really had a good time in your class this year. Even though we haven't been the most quiet class you've had, I know that I'll remember a lot of experiences we had in English this year and I'll remember you as being a really neat teacher. May God Bless you.

Mrs. Armstrong,
Thanks for being so nice and letting me be in yearbook next year. I wish you were still doing it - but we'll probably be asking you more questions than Kenda. You are also a very good teacher and have help me alot. (can you believe that spelling) Have a good summer and I'll see you next year.

Love,
Laura Warren

Mrs. Armstrong,
I have enjoyed being in your class this year again. For you are a great English teacher. I'm glad that I had you again instead of some else. I hope that you have a good summer, see you next year, "or 79"!

Mrs Arm,
I just wanted to tell you that I have really enjoyed being on yearbook staff these past 2 years. You're a great teacher and have a great summer

Arm-
I enjoyed working on yearbook for you two years! Your sense of humor really makes you stand out and even when deadlines are a week overdue we can still hear your yuk-yuk laugh going around the room. You very definitely were my favorite teacher.
Good luck in your "career"

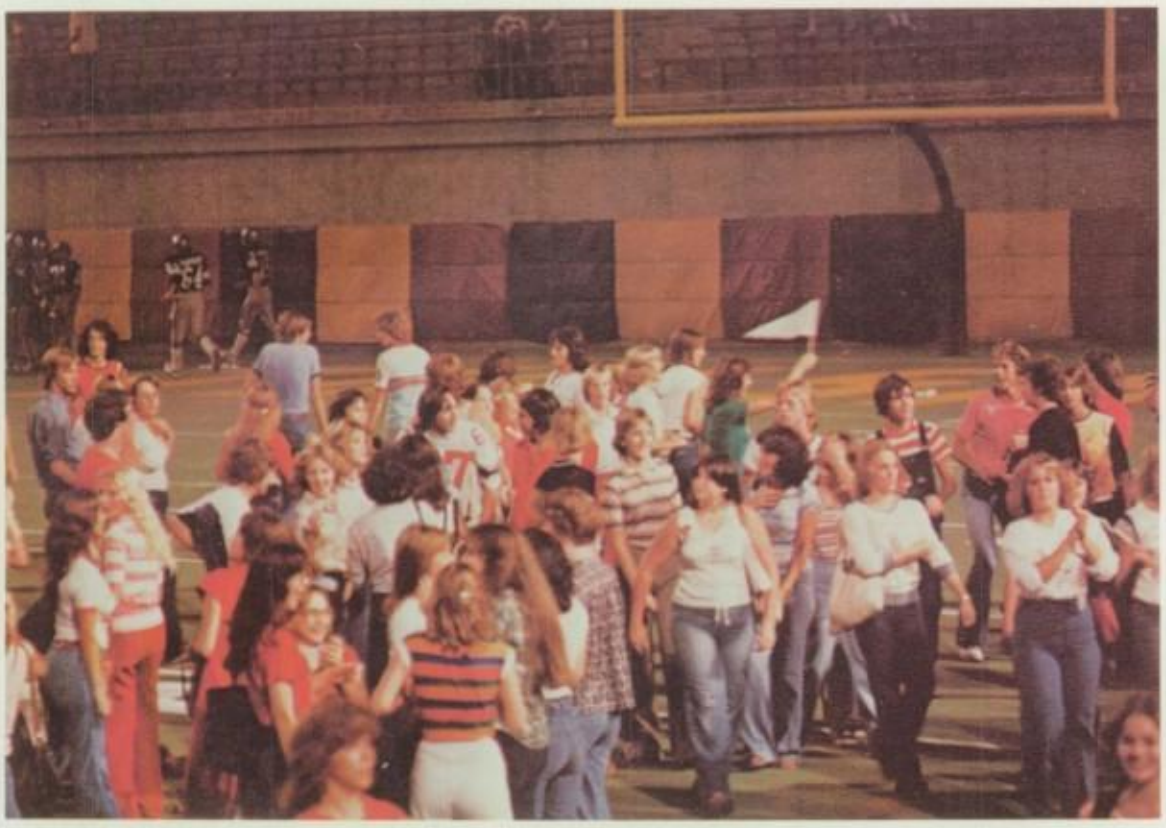
THE SHUFFLE

Shuffling of the "Cards" is the first thing that happens every year. After the people are through running after schedule changes and the Sophomores lose that "lost" look in their eyes, and just before everyone is ready to collapse, it finally dies down, only to speed up again when school activities begin. Everyone gets all keyed up in the middle of the year and all the spirits start flowing. Spring begins, and things die down once again, only to pick up at the end of the year with the prom, yearbooks, and graduation.

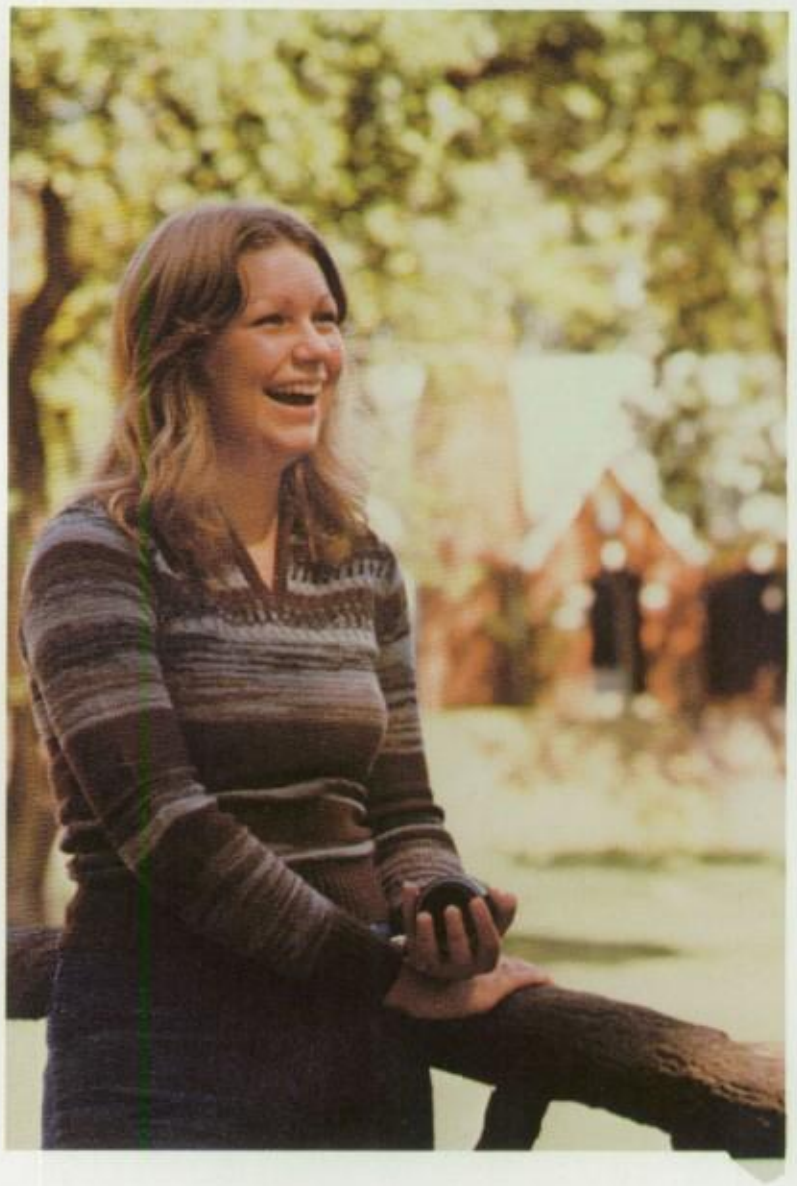


As the "Cards" fell into place at their many activities, we can look and find out just what the "Big Deal" was. Winning the Hale game was one-Big-deal! Though the years of rivalry march forth, the Cardinals of East Central once again proved that they were superior over the Hale Rangers. Gradually the "Big Deal" became increasing school spirit, and what better way to show your school spirit than to drive one of the most well known cars in the city with the good ole E.C. colors Red, Black, and White...

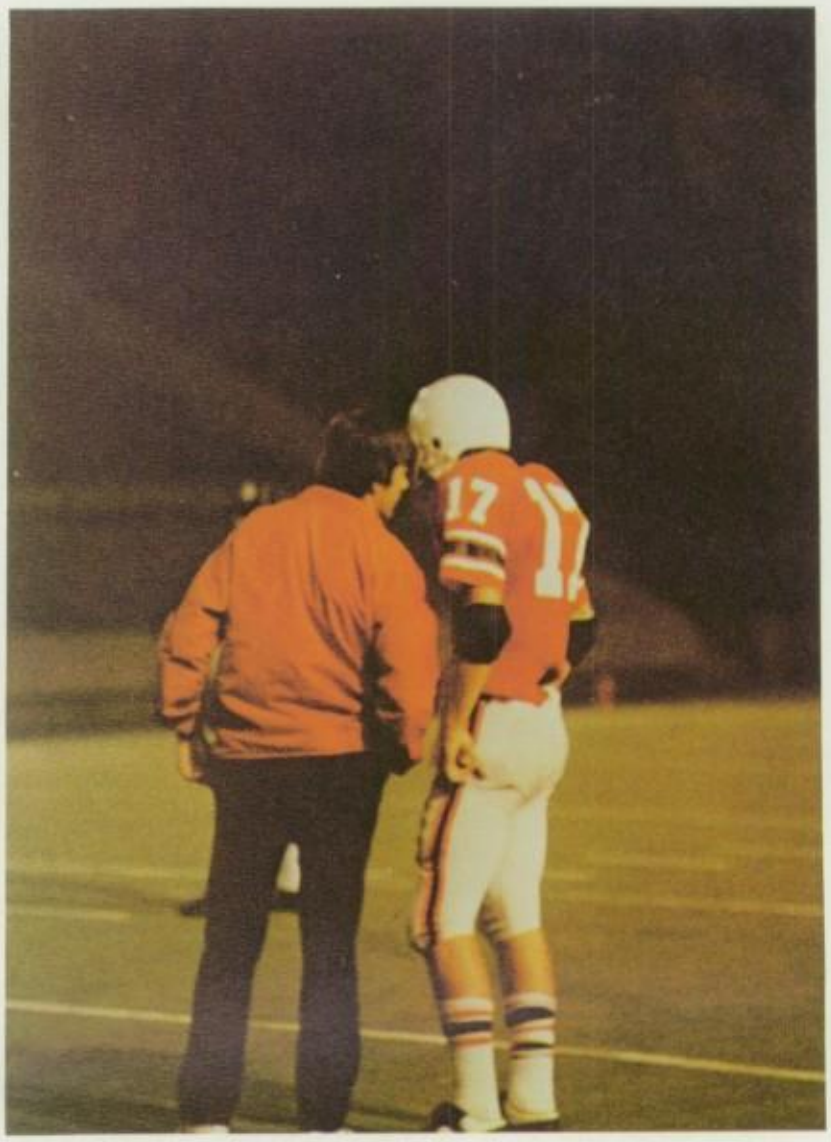
THE DEAL

... Slowly the "good ole" E.C. spirit turned into the Christmas spirit, with the "Big Deal" centered around Christmas. Sharing the Christmas spirit with our friends seemed to bring everyone a little closer. Soon spending time with friends became the "Big Deal", as many began to realize that this year may be the last one for everybody to be together. Although all the things mentioned are very special, and they all seem to be a "Big Deal", they just won't match up with graduation day, now THAT will be a "BIG DEAL"!

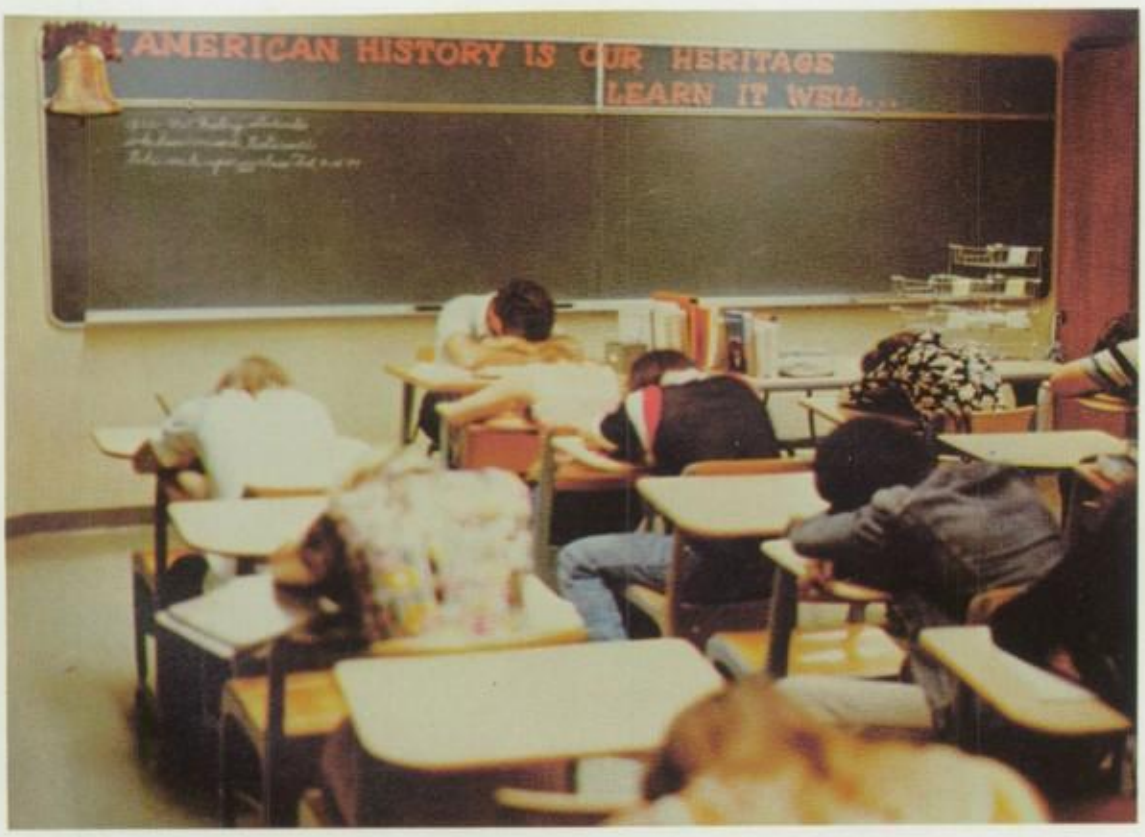
The Bet



People taking all they've got and putting it up for higher stakes. It may be a swim meet, a test, or a part in the school play, but the challenge is always there and we must meet it. In our card game, sometimes the odds favor our bet. But there are times when the odds are overwhelmingly against you. All we can do is take the losses and wait for better luck in the next round. Any gambler can tell you that lucky streaks are few and far between. So lay down your bets for the lucky streak in your future.



THE PLAY



As we go through life, there are many games that we must play. One of these games is called the Game of School. To play this game, you must be within the ages of six, and over. Everyone plays this game, some for 12 years, or less, and some for more. For some, school is exciting and holds all the things they refer to as fun. There are people there they love and know. For other people, school is no fun at all. There are so many different things for you to experience. It is sometimes hard to keep playing and not just throw in your cards, but once you've reached that last day of your Senior year, you might just wish that you could go back and start it all over again. As we went through this school year, many of us played all kinds of games, each with a different meaning, but none of them were as complicated as the game of Life...

-Debi McDaniel-

From this "Deck of Cards", the game of life begins. The shuffle of our somewhat hectic school life is coming to an end. Now it is time for the deal. How will the cards fall? Will they turn up right for you? As you turn over the cards of life, it is time to make the bet. Time to put your trust in the things you have learned, accomplished, and experienced. Will you make the right decision? The game of life does not allow for many mistakes. One too many, and the game will be over before it has begun. Life is a complicated game, one that takes much skill in playing. If you choose the right path, the game can easily be won. If you choose the wrong one, you may lose the game forever. How you play the cards will determine how the game will end.

Mrs. Loyd and Lori Baker look over Sr. Class plans.

The graduating class of 1978 is one class that will never be forgotten, by anyone. We loved our school and when things got rough, so did we. Somehow through all the excitement, we made it. We gave the administration a whole lot of trouble, but they took it one day at a time and somehow got us through this hectic year without too much in the way. They will remember us by the way in which we left this school, with pride. We will remember our years at E.C. by the way in which we spent this year, with spirit. Good-bye East Central High School, please remember us with all the pride we left you with. It was fun while it lasted.

With the end of this year comes a new beginning for the Seniors. Something different for everyone. There are graduates who will go on to college for special training in certain fields of work, and some will go straight into that big world of working people. It's hard to believe that these years at E.C. are really over for us. We look back and think of all the happy times we had and how good they were. We think of the bad times and we know that they weren't really that bad. It seems as if it were only yesterday that we got our drivers' licenses and took Sophomore gym class. We remember our first day here; how big the school looked, and we thought we'd never find our classes. And now, it's all gone by. Now we have to look ahead to our futures. They are so very unsure. What will we do? Do we really know for sure? We wish we could start our wonderful high school days over again. We need the time to think about things just a little longer. It goes by all too fast, and we ask ourselves where all the days and nights to come will go. It is fun to be a Senior, but it is also very frightening to think that we are all grown up now. We've dreamed of this day since we were but small tots, and now that it is here, we don't know quite how to face it. There are so many people in this school that we will never see again after graduation night. It is a big world out there, and it is calling for us, so we must be on our ways now. Farewell E.C. We will always remember and love you...

Jr. Board Officers from left - Randy Clay, Ricky Payne, Debbie Flynn, Janet Cairns.

Jr. Board Sponsor - Ron Bloom supervises simulator instruction.

The Junior Board is the representative organization of the Junior class with the purpose of planning the events and activities of the year. Fund raising projects were upmost in their minds as they tried to raise money for their Senior prom. Juniors were there to brighten the day of many Cardinals by selling donuts in the round before school.

Thanks to the Junior class, game goers need not go thirsty. Concessions were sold at all home games. The high point of the year, as usual, for Juniors was ring sales. Yes, for months on end Juniors were found flashing their rings and always waving with their right hand.

Seasons

Why is your love like the leaves, and myself the majestic holder?
You see, your love is miles away,
an illusion to my soul.
At times your the fresh, new,
life of spring,
At others you're the heat of a south summer's night, demanding every segment and ounce of my energy and blood, never ceasing or letting up on my limited
supply.
Then approaches
the dying climax
of summer,
Autumn.
I give you all
I can to see you
turn cold,
and the wind knock you to my feet.
Last,
the freeze of winter mulches
you to my roots, where you will lie among your own remains keeping me agrasp with life during the cold, then,
supplying my fuel
for the seasons to come,
when united once again,
limb and leaf.

Sophomores, Class Of '80

Meet Mr. Lefler Sophomore class sponsor.

Enthusiasm is the word for the class of '80'. Thoroughness and getting things done is part of the style. Selling T-shirts, the concession stand at wrestling matches, and the movie "Murder By Death" are a few of the things the sophomores have organized this year. The sophomore class sponsor, Coach Rodger Lefler, feels that this year's sophomore class has many potential leaders. Among them are the class officers: Marilyn Jett, President, Craig Attebury, Vice-President, Teresa Swain, Secretary, and Susan Reeves, Treasurer. This is Coach Lefler's eighth year as sophomore class sponsor, and he would not trade jobs with anyone. He feels that, "Working with young people who have leadership ability enhances my opinion of the quality of our community in future years". We on the Cardinal Staff certainly agree, and wish to salute the Class of '80'.

Reflections

Gazing onward into destiny
within a pane of glass,
The present I've lost hold of it
The future, out of grasp.
The sun is but a flavored kiss
of metallic iron and steel,
An astre with its brilliance blinding that only eyes can feel.
The glimmer of the city lights
makes hearty invitations
On gloomy, rainy, misty nights, reflecting fascinations.
Into a pool, I gaze beyond,
looking at myself.
Reality is in the heart,
found only by one's self.
In her eyes of turquoise blue,
You find her inner self.
Gazing at her picture now
in her I see myself

-Chris Anderson-

Sophomore Quotes

I think that East Central is the best place to go to high school because the seniors and juniors have made it the best place. The only bad part about being a sophomore is that it's like having the chicken pox. Everyone knows it. - Marilyn Jett

A sophomore hates being a sophomore. He is anxious to grow up, to get that driver's license, to go on that first date and eventually grab that pot of gold at the end of the rainbow: to be a "Super Senior". - Larry Stuart

The thought of going in there and having everyone know that you're a sophomore is terrifying. How they know is beyond me, but they always do. I guess it's because you're the one who is trying not to look like a scared, lost sophomore and it's not coming off. - Patty Howard

If you could go back in time, one's sophomore year would be a choice time to visit. But like the saying goes, "It's a nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there." - Bruce Kleppe

Let me tell you, this sophomore business is really something else. - Karen McGhee

But it's also a time of making new friends (and enemies) and being able to go out on a date without someone's parents coming along to see you get there and back. It's also a time to start sorting out the years ahead. - Peggy Tummons.

Seniors and juniors sometimes can be a pretty obnoxious bunch at times; for instance, dropping two sophomores of unequal weights from the 5th floor to test Newton's law of gravity, or playing "Death Race 2,000" in the parking lot. But most sophomores survive all this to become upper-class and antagonize the next sophomores. After all, that's the American way. - Jim Schloss

You're a vital part of that large group of people known as the Student Body. Even though you are one in two thousand, you are still important. How does it feel to be a sophomore? Great! - Mike Ishmael

When school just started, I learned the golden rules: (1) a Senior is always right. (2) If in doubt, refer to Rule #1. - Brenda Jenkins

Something I really like about being a sophomore is that you have an excuse for doing something wrong. You only say, "What do you want? I'm only a Sophomore!". - Debby Peterson Someday I'll look back on my sophomore year and see it was the best of my life, because of all the fun I had and because of all the wonderful new friends I've made. - Chris Monnett.

"Look what Santa brought!", says Stan Galvan, surveying the Canned Food Drive for the needy.

The time, September 8, 1977, the place, Skelly Stadium; the event - the season opener for the Tulsa East Central Cardinals. The pay off for months of hard work and practice was finally about to get underway, and no better team to make pay than the Hale Rangers. In a hard-fought highly emotional game, the two bitter rivals battled to the final seconds of the game with the Cardinals finally emerging victorious. There was a lot of partying east of Mingo Creek that Thursday night. Next on the agenda was the Central Braves, who were quickly scalped, 12-0, and shipped west. The Cardinals were riding high, feeling confident of an easy victory over the Edison Eagles when disaster struck in the way of a 20-6 setback on the night Mingo Creek went dry. The week that followed was one of pain and agony with a sense of revenge foremost in the hearts and minds of both the players and coaches. Revenge was to be ours the following week with a homecoming-upset 19-8 victory over the Broken Arrow Tigers. The game was highlighted by two long Randy Rawlinson runs and the burning of the homecoming floats. East Central would no longer be scheduled for five or six homecomings a year.

McLain turned out to be the turning point of the season with a 7-6 loss in a game we should have won. The Cardinals were never the same again after this shattering defeat. Homecoming - and a crowd pleasing victory on a 50 yard interception - touch-down by Phil Sallee climaxing a classic defensive struggle and 7-0 victory. In a do-or-die game against conference foe Memorial, the Cardinals proved they would never again say die. Although losing in the end, 14-0, they played what is said to be their most violent and physical game to date. They proved even in defeat, they were still champions. Next up was Muskogee in the Indian Bowl, a game played well enough to win, but going down again, 14-0 to the future conference champs. The grand finale to a disappointing season was Rogers, a team starving for a win. Steve "Boo" Majors finally played up to his potential in rushing for well over 150 yards (most in the first half) in a 27-14 victory. Thus comes to a close the 1977 football season, filled with the shattered hopes and broken dreams of the players and coaches. A disappointing, yet rewarding experience, never to be forgotten.

Murph Shelby brings in a rough finish in state competition.

Cross Country, once an underdog in the sports world at East Central, took a front seat this year, in sending an entire team to state finals. Duel action started early this fall, when the Cards literally ran all over Hale. Keeping a lead over opponents Rogers, Central, Mason, Webster, Washington, and Broken Arrow, the well seasoned Cards built up an impressive 7-1 record. Coach Shields was proud of his much improved team and always looked forward to the 1-2-3-finish of Murph Shelby, Steve McClure, and Paul Louderback. Conference Runner Up brought further honors to the progressing distance kings on their way to top regional and state rankings. The first Cross Country team ever to represent East Central did justice by achieving the #10 spot in Oklahoma. Junior Paul Louderback surprised both coach and team, dropping his previous team position and racing to grab #14 in state finals. Congratulations to three-year veterans Murph Shelby and Phillip Perritt, two-year aces Steve McClure, Paul Louderback, Rick Steinburg and Brian Smock, and to wrestler Tracy Kramer who gave more than his share. Next year looks even better . . .

Three seniors relieve their pre-race tension with a quick grin.

Paul Louderback moves up in the field.

"Where did it go"

"Beauty at its best"

The E.C. B-ballers led by hot-ball-handling Dwight "Whitey" Holdman and Randy Rawlinson jumped the season off by beating.the Hale Rangers in a double overtime game by 4 points. The Cards were a much better team than the records reflect. They were voted "All Tournament Team" at the Putnam City West Tournament, even though they didn't win a game and "Whitey" held the top scoring coverage in the conference. In spite of bomb threats and rough rides to distant games, the E.C. roundballers proved they weren't as bad as they were considered by beating many heavily favored foes, like Memorial, McLain, and Hale. But in spite of great efforts by Coach Lefler and the boys, they were beat by #1 seated Muskogee in the 1st round of regionals, preventing them from advancing to the state tournament.

Wrestlers #1!

The E.C. Wrestlers wrapped up another successful season under second year coach Jim Shields. The Cards picked up a second place finish in the Conference, a third place wrap up of the regionals and a fourth place grab at state. Two Cardinal wrestlers earned state championship honors. Tracy [illegible] and Bobby Elrod at 168. They also [illegible] runner-up, Normal Atwell at 148. The Elrod did well in their tournament [illegible] also, taking first at Union, second at Edison and a third grab at Midwest City. Though this team didn't equal the winners of before, pressure whips the finest when chasing ghosts of champions past.

The Cardinal swimmers are once again into another fast and furious season. Led by Coach Tom Langham the aquateers have their goals set on conference, team and individual titles. Despite the graduation loss, the "fish" are still hopefully high and have a confident glow about them. Swimming is usually looked upon as a lesser sport, but the water demands every segment of energy a body can provide, and we're lucky to have such dedicated and hard-working athletes representing our athletic program.

E.C. Golfers

Bill Jones and Bobby Schook finish another round.

A difficult lie for Mark McCurdy.

The East Central golfers, led by coach Tom Langham, are expecting to swing through the 1978 season with the greatest of ease, while en route to a conference crown. Our golfers are really up to par this year, with a strong corp of returning veterans and an enthusiastic group of up and coming rookies. Coach Langham feels that Edison and Memorial will not only be our chief competition race, but also in the "Best Dressed Golfers of the Year" award. We are all optimistic about our teams chances, barring any quicksand traps, bottomless pits, unmapped oceans, or any other natural obstructions.

EXCUSES, EXCUSES!

Although the girl's gymnastic team got off to a slow start in their dual meets they proved they could take on almost anyone when they placed second in the All-city competition. Even though the 7:30 a.m. work outs didn't kill anybody, they sure did wake them up in the mornings. Hair up in curlers, make up half on, clothes wrinkled, the gymnasts still seemed to sparkle even with all these obstacles. The gymnasts got a little class to their act when they started competing Class I. This class is for the more advanced gymnasts which proved they could handle it by placing second in the All-city competition.

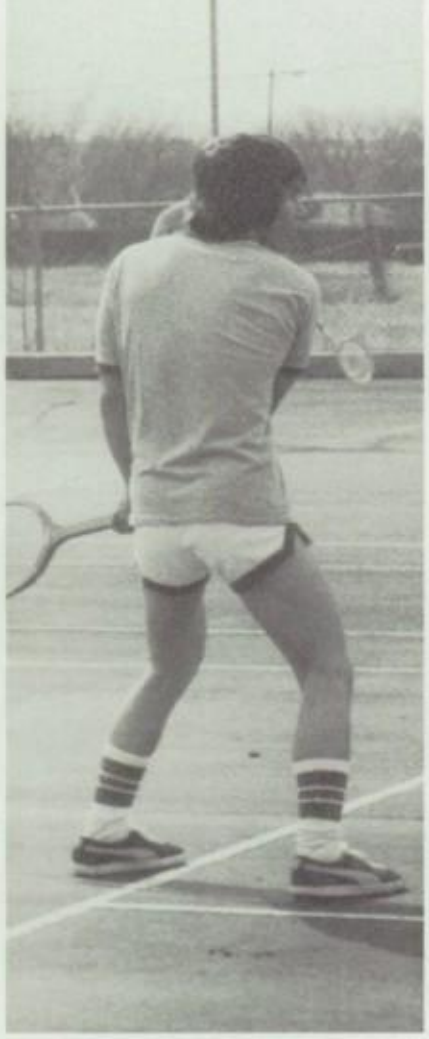
Tennis Anyone?

Sam Sanders sets up a return.

I hope I don't get my hair messed up.

This new headband has really improved my game.



What am I doing here? I don't even play tennis!

Second year head coach Randy Goodsell is optimistic about his year's East Central tennis team. Serving the way for the Cards is returning state champion, Cheryl Hawkins, who Coach Goodsell says is, in his opinion, one of the best in the nation. The rest of the squad isn't bad either; these net burners include the likes of Sam Sanders, Robert Patrick, Chris Anderson, David Foley, and others. The Big Red Tennis Machine is expected to ace all opponents on their way to the conference crown, according to an enthusiastic Coach Goodsell. He expects the chief competition to again this year be Memorial, and non-conference foe Edison.

East Central Tracksters Burnin

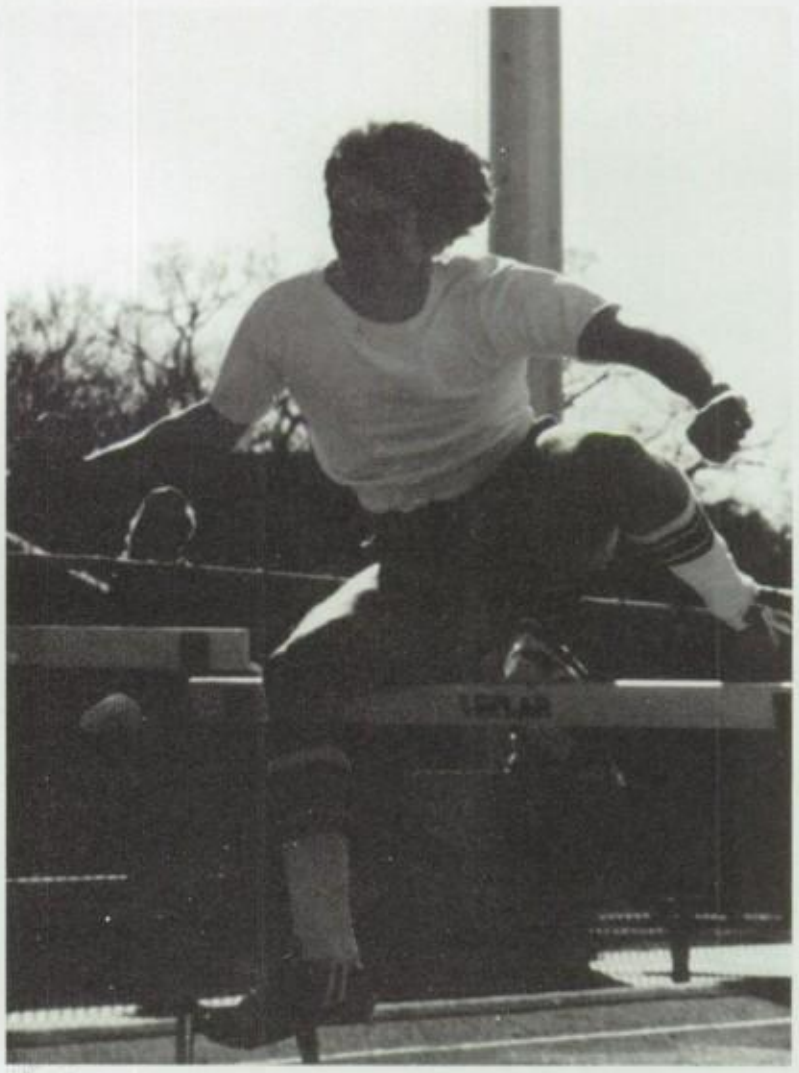
Shot Put Champ Pete Abbey shows his form that will take him to state finals again this year.

Known as an excellent hurdler and a great guy, Steve Yeakley has it all together.



All-Star Team Has High Goals In '78

Barbara Green fights her way across the finish line in a fast-paced quarter mile.

Each year spring rolls around and the East Central tracksters take to the road in hard training for the season ahead. Some following the schedules of Olympians, others casually work out and leave early. But despite their differing levels of motivation, all have the common goal of excellence in mind. Under a seasoned Coach Dreas, the new team takes form. Returning lettermen Pete Abbey, Steve Yeakley, Murph Shelby, Mike Moose, Steve McClure, Paul Louderback, Bob Stillman and Phil Perritt are the base of a team with high goals. Conference and Regional Shot-Put champ Pete Abbey defends his posititon with ease. The Distance Aces Shelby, Louderback, McClure, and Chuck Harman cover the upper distances with experience and hard work. Due to publication deadlines, these pages cannot follow the Cardinal track men, but we wish them good luck in their winning '78 season.

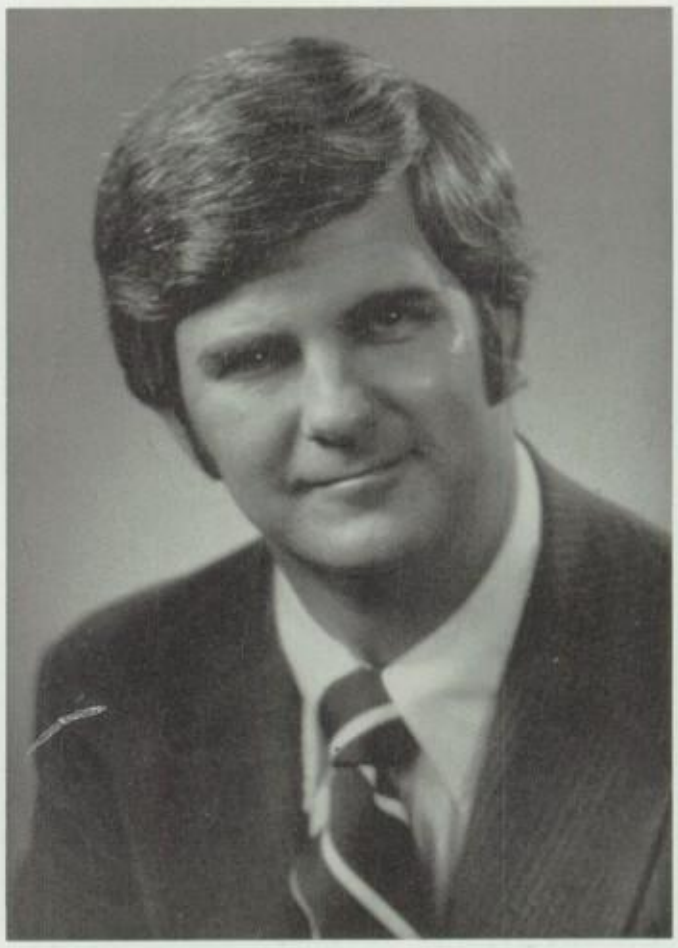
A FULL HOUSE

ACADEMICS

Edited by: J. L. Armstrong

Board Of Education

"A Full House," the symbolic theme for Academics and educators, starts with the Tulsa Public Schools' Board of Education members. Although East Central students don't see them very often, except maybe handing out diplomas that memorable night you graduate, these people are in the background making decisions that affect every school day of your life. They cope with such problems as how to make the money stretch, the boundary lines of rival schools, integration policies, and defending rights of both students and teachers.



Dr. Larry L. Zenke
Superintendent of Schools

Tulsa Board of Education members are, left to right, Mrs. Marjorie Dougherty, Mr. E. T. Watkins, Mrs. Mary Warner, Vice-President, Mrs. Jo Ann Fields, Mr. Ray Conard, Dr. Hobart C. Sanders, President, and Mrs. Helen L. McKenzie.

John Wilhelm seems to be enjoying Mr. Payne's visit to his Distributive Education class.

Total building supervision: another facet of Mr. Payne's responsibilities is revealed as he inspects E. C. facilities.

"A Deck Of Cards"

"Win, lose, or draw" the riverboat gambler had to play the hand dealt from a deck of cards, but this need not be the case for the "Cards" of East Central High School. Your future isn't a game of chance but rather a wealth of opportunities with options selected by you for the needed skills, knowledge, facts, leadership, and citizenship values available through your academic classes and the related activities of your choice for use now and into the future. This pictorial record of our 1977-78 school year should help each of you measure your progress and determine how well you played your "cards" this past year.

Mr. J. W. Payne

Paper work takes up a lot of an Assistant Principal's time. Here, Mr. George Dorsch gives instruction to La Nita Phillips.

Assistant Principals

How can Mr. Payne lose with assistants like Mr. Dorsch, Smith, and Stephens? Their duties are divided into three broad categories. Mrs. Dorsch, in charge of Curriculum, schedules your classes and teachers to make sure you get the right graduation requirements, -among other things. Mr. Smith, Student Activities, lines up assemblies, class forums, senior pictures, organizations - you name it. And don't try too many bluffs on Mr. Stephens, the man in charge of Discipline. His multifarious (see Page 560, Webster's New Students Dictionary) bulletins, white and pink, have a way of keeping all of us honest.

Counselors

When the cards were dealt for the new Dean of Women's position, Mrs. Pat Holder came up with the winning hand. Mrs. Holder is long familiar to East Central students, having joined the staff in 1965 as girls physical education instructor. She holds degrees from Oklahoma State University and Northeastern State. Mrs. Bonnaha established the Careers Resource Center in E309 this year and also counseled seniors with 5th and 6th hour permits to leave school. The entire counseling staff guided some 2,000 Cardinal students in academic, vocational, and personal matters.

Art

Whether it's silk screening "A Deck of Cards" for the yearbook cover, or stencilling contemporary graffiti on T-shirts ("Nothing could be finer than to be a '79er) art students find a world of fun and creativity in Linda Wilson and Janey Harrison's art classes. Serious art students enter state art contests and display their paintings for sale in the library once a year.

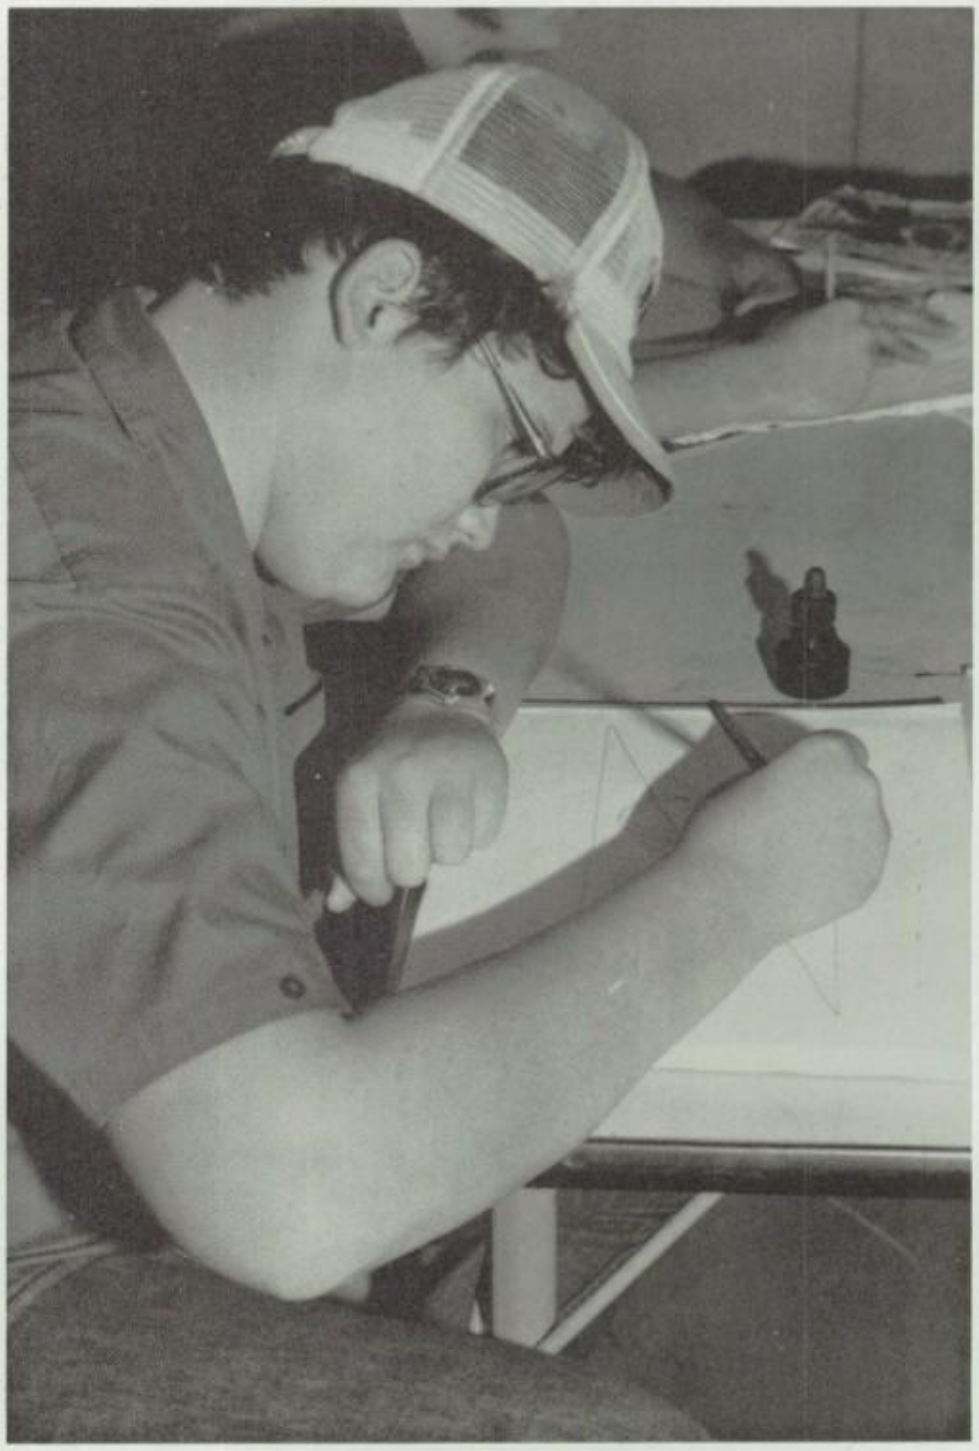
Mike Sparr strikes a pose, as Janey Harrison's students work on contour figure drawing.

"Hi, guy." Linda Wilson is so helpful to yearbook, in addition to her art activities, that the Cardinal staff wants to put her on permanently.



Engrossed in his project, Kevin Phillips is working on pen and ink shading techniques.

Margaret Byrd

Now completing her eleventh year as D.E.C.A. sponsor, Mrs. Margaret Byrd is supervising 65 working students this year. D.E.C.A. students work in retail establishments, any store that sells goods to consumers, such as T.G.&Y., Sears, Safeway, K-Mart. There are three D.E. morning theory classes at East Central. Sophomores have a preparatory class. Juniors learn to operate cash registers, make change, and take a check. They study how to get along on a job, the principles of advertising and store displays. Seniors study small business management, what it takes to go into business, money problems, and where to locate a store. Mrs. Byrd works with the employers on student evaluations and what needs to be stressed in the classroom.

C.O.E.

Success in the field of business and office occupations is the goal for 25 Cooperative Office Education members under the guidance of Mrs. Lu Spybuck. Cities-Shell-Sun-Sperry Univac: these are some of the exciting companies which offer afternoon employment to students, who also receive school credit and grades with their paychecks. First hour students meet at East Central for related activities such as typing, charm units and record keeping. Second hour offers advanced shorthand, while third hour comprises general clerical students who work with executive typewriters, calculators, and duplicators.

C.O.E.

Industrial Cooperative Education is one of the most rapidly expanding programs at East Central, under the direction of Instructor Mel Martin. Growth rate has rocketed from 17 students five years ago to 60 this year. Students work in various jobs such as machine shop operators, cooks, draftsmen, auto body and repair mechanics. Some who come into the program already have jobs and now can receive high school credit as well. Sophomores enter the first phase in career exploration. Juniors and seniors learn how to apply for jobs, how to hold them, and how to get along with people. And most important, they learn how to get promotions. Mr. Martin gets jobs for most of his students and gives them individualized instruction during class time.

Business

The odds are with the Business students when it comes to competition in the job market. Look around and see how many are getting ready now. In one field alone, Oleata Bohall teaches five classes of Typewriting I, with an impressive amount of boys enrolled in each section. Luberta Waters offers two classes of advanced typing. From Shorthand to Office Machines, or Accounting to Business Law, business classes are valuable channels to the office or on to college.

English

If you can master your language, that's an ace in the hole, whether now at East Central or in the years to come. Students concentrate in many areas of English ranging from American poets and the creative pleasure of poetry notebooks to library research and Junior themes. Seniors get to choose their routes: for some it's language skills, for others it's contemporary literature. For all, it's great to choose your own 12th Grade classes. Betty Tidrow and Lou Turnbough joined the English staff this year.

New to East Central this year, Lou Turnbough teaches both Spanish and English.

"Come now, Herr Schulte, the progress chart," insist German students Jenny Van Way, Pat Sanders, Luise Hendrickson, and George Burkins.

Foreign Language

Ever play cards in French? German? Spanish? Learning other ways and languages can be fun, even though you have to work at it, agree most of the Foreign Language students. And social clubs are tied into the field of study. It was exciting to break the Spanish pinata or yell at the French Club soccer game. Mr. Hall taught Latin I this year, and Mr. Owen taught Greek II, thereby expanding the Foreign Language curriculum.

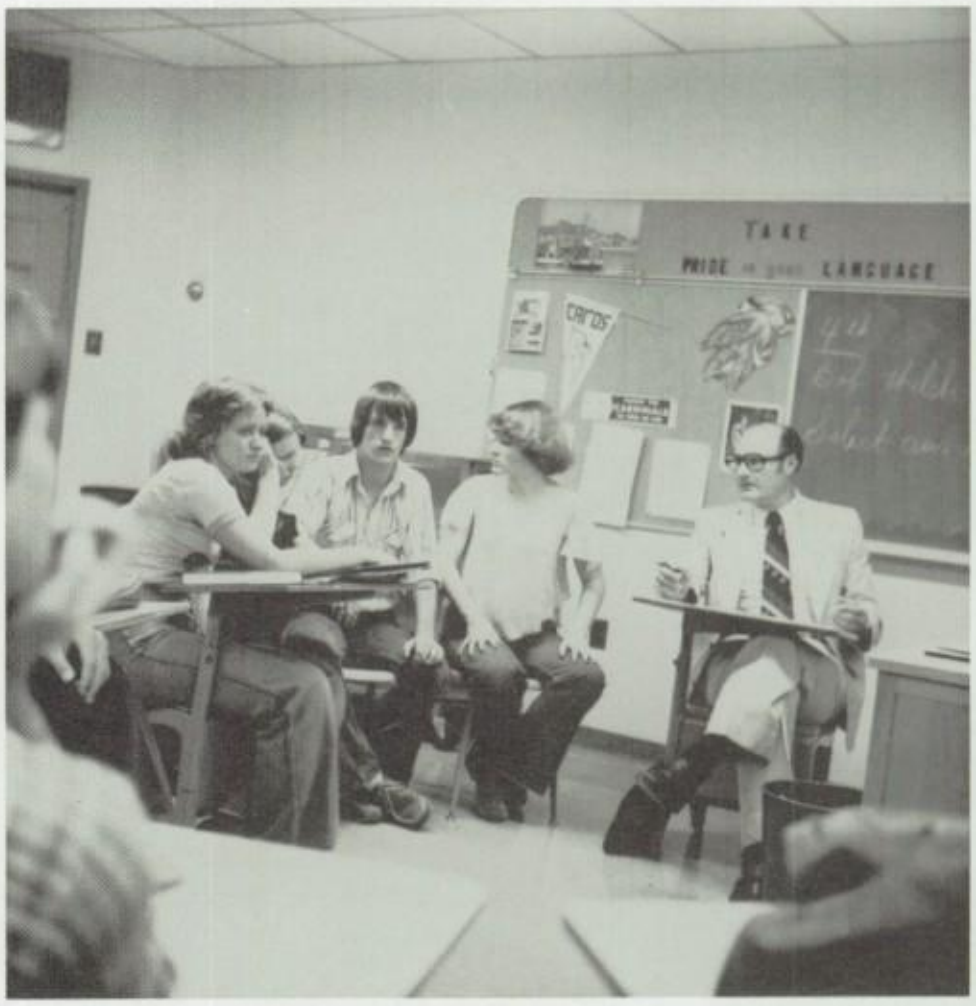
Yearbook

Do you like the random pictures this year. The Division pages? Cardinal yearbook staffers have a lot of decisions to make in behalf of about 2,000 students. The red-letter day in yearbook is March 1. That's the last deadline to get a spring delivery. March 2 we start plans and pictures for next year's book. So, in September, familiar cries are, "Moose, have you started the cover yet?" In October, "Rick, where are the baseball pictures?" Or, in December, "Murph, when can we get the Rose Garden pictures?" Both juniors and seniors make up the staff. Seniors call the signals, and juniors are stacking up experience to take into next year. If you like "A Deck of Cards," it makes all deadlines and overtime worthwhile.



Teri Marrs, Mike Moose, and Elaine Paul are considering ideas from Bob Welch, our Walsworth publishing representative.

Photographers Mark Shelby, Mike Sparr, Rick Adams, and Richey Kirkpatrick show how they got the money and cards together for division page pictures.

Journalism

Tale Feathers

Under the direction of Judy Klenda, Journalism offers students the opportunity to learn and apply the basic concepts of journalistic writing, in particular, by performing staff reporting duties on The Cardinal Tale Feathers Newspaper staff. Students are exposed to all phases of newsprint journalism, including editorial, feature, news, sports and critical review writing, as well as photography, art, page design and paste-up techniques. Experiences in the business world are acquired in the selling and collection of advertising, subscriptions and individual newspaper sales.

Home Economics

Statistic: 95% of East Central graduates will marry and establish homes someday. This is the best reason for taking Home and Family Life courses. You get to study how to manage money and decorate apartments and houses; you learn to cook and sew, trying to stay even with our inflated society. In Parenting class, students are becoming aware that the way they treat their bodies will influence their future children. The studies range from good nutrition to smoking and drug abuse. Dual careers can be established through this department: the career of a homemaker, and a career in the food or fashion world.

Mr. Payne watches with great interest as Gloria Clifton and students whip up a cake.

The equipment is there, the teachers are there, and all you have to bring is a desire to learn a trade that will make you a living. Is your preference cars or motorcycles? Check with John Dial in Power Mechanics. Or maybe you like Electronics, or Woods, Drafting, or Machine Shop. East Central's ticket to the job market is found in the West Wing.

Mathematics

What's new in the Math department this year is the addition of Mike Marsh, Vocational Math and Elementary Algebra. What's sad in the department is that Chairman Ed McCray has announced his retirement after 30 years of teaching, 13 at East Central. Mr. McCray holds B.S. and M.S. degrees from Oklahoma A & M College, and has completed graduate work at Phillips University, The University of Tulsa, and San Diego State College. Cardinals will miss seeing Mr. McCray around the classroom and Math office, but we're not sure how much he will miss us. He and his wife Martha are bound for the Bitter Root Valley in Northwest Montana, where they have something important waiting for them: a new home on 14 acres of timber, a trout stream closeby, and old college friends to reminisce with. Happy retirement, Mr. McCray, and thanks for the 13 years.

Mrs. Judy Tucker came at 7:30 a.m. daily to teach Gymnastics class; then she returned to her base teaching assignment at Lewis and Clark. Students kept healthy bodies by exercise and sports, following the seasonal trends of field hockey, soccer, football, swimming, tennis, softball, and track.

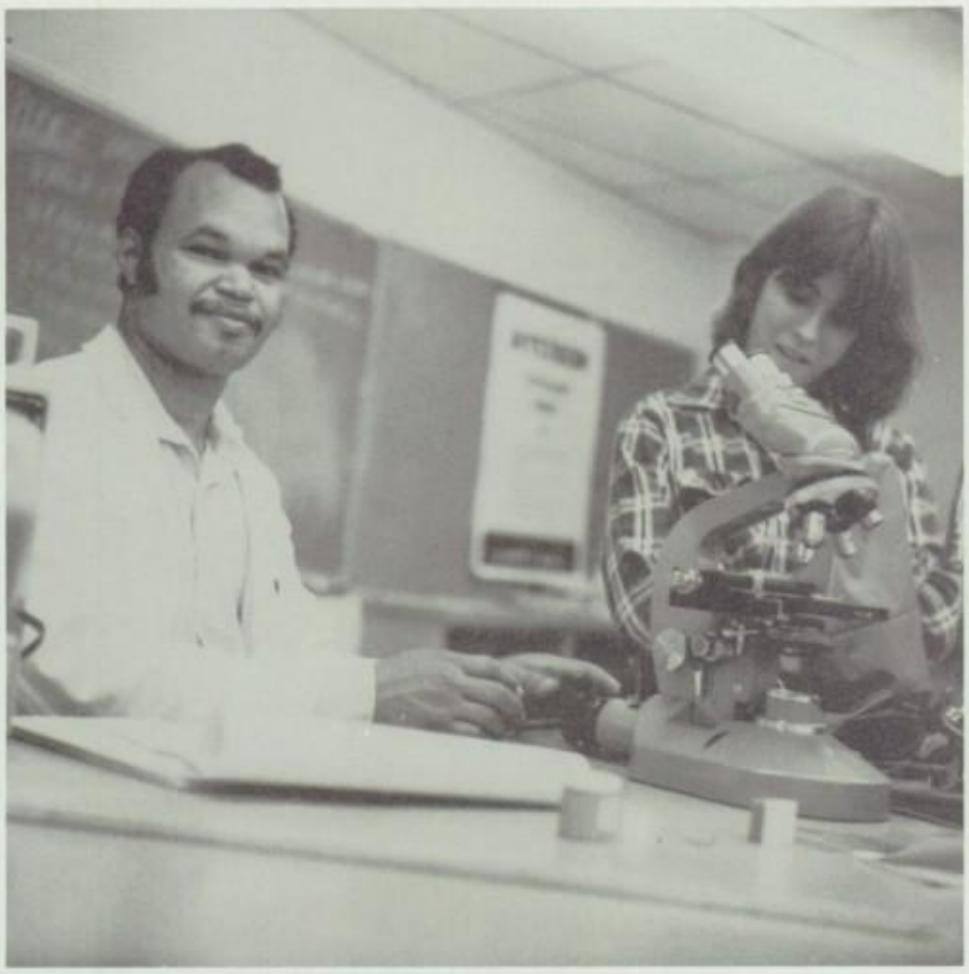
Science

Poets look at it one way, geophysicists another, but all of us cast appreciative glances at the world around us. This is what the Science department is all about, whether the field of study is natural or man-made forces. Biology students study life forms to understand themselves and how all creatures relate to each other and the universe. Blood circulation can be traced through dissecting a frog, with an added dimension when representatives come from Red Cross or City-County Health to discuss diseases of the blood. Acute social problems are investigated: drugs, alcoholism, venereal diseases. Chemistry students study molecular and atomic particles as they relate to our materials: according to some students, practical things like oil and gasoline! And Physics students utilize both math and science in a range of study from free-falling bodies to the speed with which light travels. New to the Science department this year are Ray Bond and Dave Stauffer.



Louis Crossley gives a nod of approval as Doris Allen demonstrates proper use of a microscope.

Social Studies

History is full of people who played their cards wrong. We can benefit by their mistakes. And a lot of people played their hands right. We can learn from them too. Fifteen Social Studies teachers help students discover the trends and values of societies from ancient civilizations to contemporary America. Mr. O. D. Bell is Department Chairman.

Instrumental Music

Under the direction of first-year director Doug Barnett, East Central's instrumental performing groups continued the tradition of "The Big Red Sound" of music. 6:45 a.m. practices in the fog and cold were hard to take for Marching Band members, but it all paid off with the thrill of football half-time activities. Members got to march in the Fair Parade and participate in the all-city Marcharama, featuring the finale, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Orchestra students participated in Handel's magnificent Messiah, in conjunction with choral students. They also gave concerts on January 26 and March 9. Jazz Ensemble students spent their class time playing jazz, swing, and rock. The highlight of their year was putting on two Jazz concerts December 1 and April 15. All musicians staged the crazy 20-hour Rock-A-Thon held in September. Object: to raise money for the department.

Concert Chorus

A composite of talent, experience, and personal drive gets 45 select members into Concert Chorus, the Elite of the Vocal Music department . . . auditions by appointment, please. These students, under the direction of Virginia Erbert, perform at state contests, civic organizations, and junior high schools. From within Chorus ranks, another 16 emerge as a special group. These students have had extensive previous musical training and study advanced music not learned in school. Some sang in the opera Aida and performed before the North Central Evaluating Committee, civic organizations, and churches.

An exciting "first" was reached when the Concert Chorus was asked to sing at a football game.

Concert Chorus members are, left to right, 1st row: Kathy Smith, Richard Clark, Sharyl Wagnor, Susan Maxwell, Steve Redding, Phyllis Dowling, Jennifer Horn, Paula Beehler, Brian Williams, Sharon Tibbs, Lori Gambill, Kelly Barrow, Cathy Coyan, Mrs. Erbert, director; 2nd row, Carole Little, Cindy George, Darla Howe, Johnny Forehand, Cindi Baucom, Laura Selvy, Dennis Laughlin, Jana Stinnett, Sharon Nelson, Scott Reinemeyer, Becky Yeakley, Karen McGhee, Jeff Churchwell, Debbie Willard, Lori Palmer; 3rd row, Lisa Evertz, Shelly Conrad, Danny Smith, Gay Powers, Bonnie Olive, Mike McKinney, Barbara Cacy, Julie McClure, Brian Caldwell, Karen McBay, Janet Majors, Dennis Stark, and Carol Hammock.

Beauty Shop Quartet: Shelley Conrad, Paula Beehler, Lori Gambill, and Kathy Smith.

Choruses For All

Three other choruses give the vocally-inclined a lot of music instruction and experience. Mixed Chorus is primarily for students who have no previous choral opportunities. They just have a desire to sing. They work with sight reading and mechanics, basic music skills, and if they are talented enough, often move up to Advanced Mixed. Advanced Mixed is a performing group. Students get to go to contests and entertain at nursing homes and junior highs. Glee Club is for treble voices. 21 girls sing in triple trios or sextets, always in three part performances.

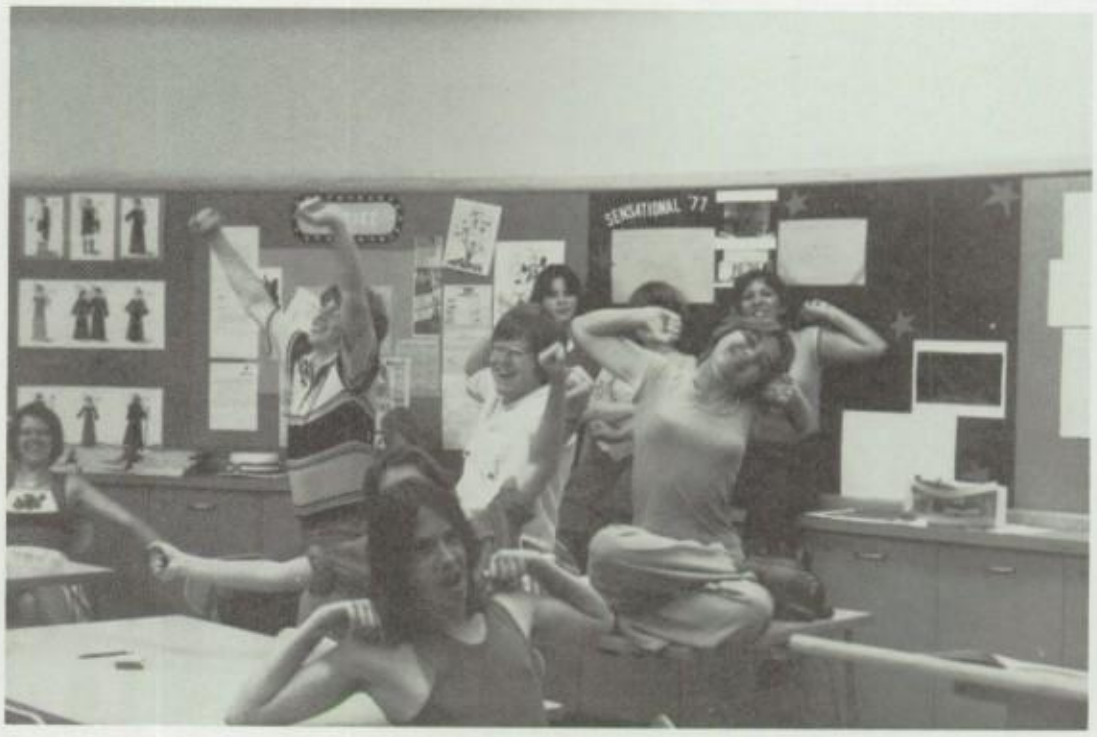
Karen Garcia and class are practicing mirror image exercises.

Randy Blair

Michelle Holbrook leads Sherri Blevins and Pearl Childs in "Puppet Strings," a body control exercise.

Drama Department

Stage lights are more exciting than high cards and games to Drama Department students. Under the direction of Randall Blair, two classes of Technical Theater design and build sets, work with lighting and sound, and serve other areas of East Central in staging school activities. Drama I students get a basic introduction to theater, voice and diction, makeup, and acting techniques. Advanced Drama students work on costumes, rehearse plays, and are responsible for total production of plays, even to the programs, tickets, and publicity.



Clown troop members are getting their act together.

Bryan Bartlett and Karen Garcia are working on emotion response exercises.

Who is the Prince? He's Death! Players are finding out the true identity of Prince Sirki.

Ralph Farrar as Prince Sirki projects two images of death: rough on Kalin Burke, and gentle with dreamy Anita Montee.

Senior Cast: Death Takes a Holiday

Synopsis And Acknowledgements

In the Senior presentation of Death Takes a Holiday, the poetic conception of Death by Ralph Farrar suspends all activities for three days. He falls in love with a beautiful girl and, through her, realizes why mortals fear him. The play was directed by Randall Blair, drama teacher and technical theater advisor of East Central. The set design was by Don Taylor. Production staff included: Lights-Jim Hannaford; Sound-Sharon Whorton; Props-Anne Hall, Vickie Goodwin, Dennis Laughlin; Costumes-Lycia Crase; Makeup-Starla Bryan, Linda O'Ferrall, Sharon Whorton; Program Cover and Flyers-Phil Martin.

Ensemble Presents:

Comedy of Errors: The Duke sentences Aegeon because he cannot pay the $1,000 ransom needed to keep his life.

Actors: Vicki Goodwin, David Wails, Bobbie Gregg, Kevin Shahan, Jim Hannaford, Gary Chambers, and Danny Smith.

Ensemble Class Forms At E.C.

"Earnest" Cast: Laura Selvy, Jim Hannaford, Starla Bryan, Ralph Farrar, Jeannie Morrissey, Elaine Paul, David Wails, Kalin Burke, and Danny Smith.

"Antigone" Cast: Bryan Bartlett, Bobbie Gregg, Joe Saul, Vicki Goodwin, Kevin Shahan, David Wails, Starla Bryan, Dennis Stark, Laura Selvy, Danny Smith, Kalin Burke, Don Taylor, Jeannie Morrissey, Ralph Farrar, Sharon Whorton, Jim Hannaford, and Elaine Paul.

Under the direction of Randall Blair, Drama II and III students became more professional this year when they formed an Ensemble class to get advanced experience in drama, possibly aiming toward theater as a career. A more professional approach was taken as two plays were presented during the same week: Antigone and The Importance of Being Earnest in November; The Tempest and The Comedy of Errors in January; Tartuffe and The Runner Stumbles in April. The class was able to save about $75.00 per show by choosing some classics, therefore not having to pay royalties to authors.

"Say, ah, and let's look at your throat," School Nurse Irene Bennett instructs Cindy George.

Behind the Scenes

We call them "Special Personnel," because they render services which can't be dealt in a classroom. This year the Cardinal staff wishes to extend a tribute of appreciation to Mrs. Irene Bennett, East Central's school nurse for 16 years. Mrs. Bennett trained at University Hospital in Enid and the University of Tulsa. We'll miss her characteristic question, "Did you eat breakfast this morning?", the cozy cot in her clinic, and her comforting presence when unfamiliar doctors and nurses appear to give physical examinations. Good luck, Mrs. Bennett, we think you are pretty special.

Two of the busiest people at East Central are Beth Gage, Banker, and Mary Ann Shiever, Bookstore clerk.

Office Staff

You can bet on the office staff to keep the "Cards" students, teachers, and school administrators together. Twelve key members of the clerical staff coordinate the main office with all its records and schedules, the bank and bookstore, attendance and library. Not pictured is Sue Freeman, the latest addition to the staff, who helps the faculty by typing and duplicating learning materials and tests.

Service Groups

Our deck of cards couldn't be filled out without some key people to wheel and deal in our behalf. Could you count the times Bob Sneed has been called on the intercom? Elevator stuck! He's our head custodian and takes care of building problems. The cafeteria staff can't compete with "Big Mac Attacks," but they can feed you cheaper and better. And a big hand for East Central's P.T.A. These hard-working parents help things run smoothly between the teachers and teen-agers.

Bob Sneed is shown at a familiar task: trying to make the elevator go.

Mr. Robert Owen is shown with East Central parents at Back to School night.

Mrs Arm,
So glad I had the chance to have you for a teacher the past 3 years — it was really a great experience for me and I really enjoyed it. I'll be sure to come back to visit next year! See you,
with love,
Barbara

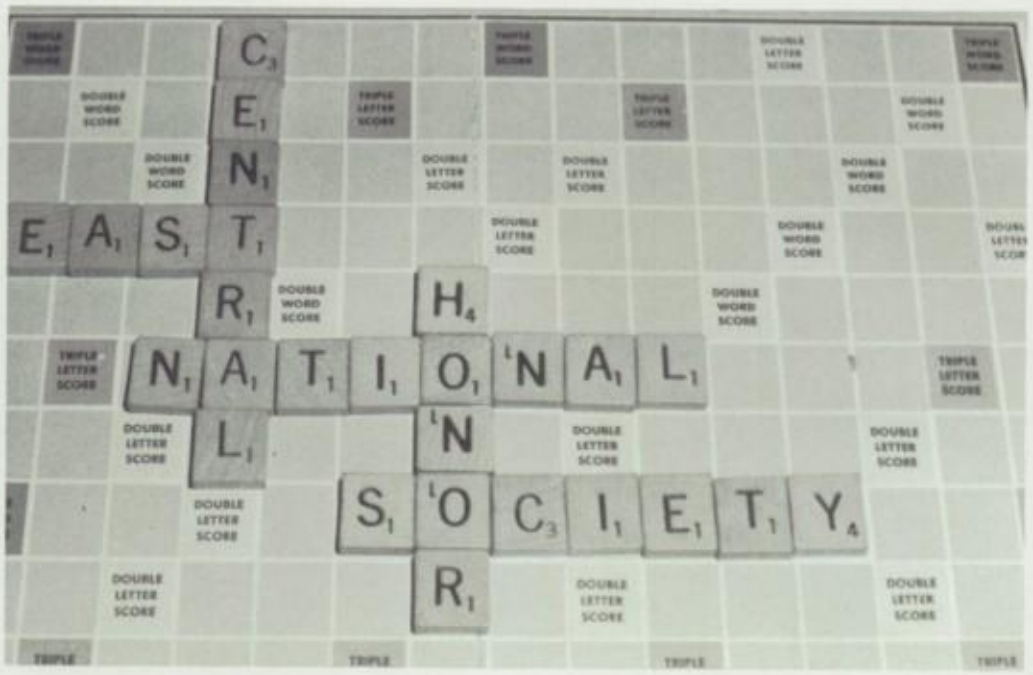
Come on, give us a break!



National Honor Society is one of East Central's largest and most respected groups. These students work hard both in and out of class to achieve success. This group visits nursing homes and hospitals in addition to performing many other community services. During the holidays this group took toys and games to unfortunate children living in a home for abused children. At their junior initiation program, a medical hypnotist gave an intersting talk on the uses and methods of hypnotism.

Officers Kathleen Hays and Stan Goodchild prepare copy for the Zerox machine.

Officers Jenny Lundquist and Anita Montee pose for a snapshot.

The members of Mu Alpha Theta don't always live up to the "bionic brain" image that some students conceive of them. Although they spend some of their meeting time discussing various mathematic concepts, such as topology and the moebius strip and their practical uses, they also enjoy passing the time by eating doughnuts and socializing.

Mu Alpha Theta

Medical Club

Now where did I leave that specimen?

E.C.'s Medical Club started this year's activities rolling by selling pennants and participating in the March of Dimes Spook House. The club donated clothes to needy families, and participated in the All-State Interscholastic Testing Program, in addition to brightening the lives of numerous nursing home residents and hospital-bound patients.

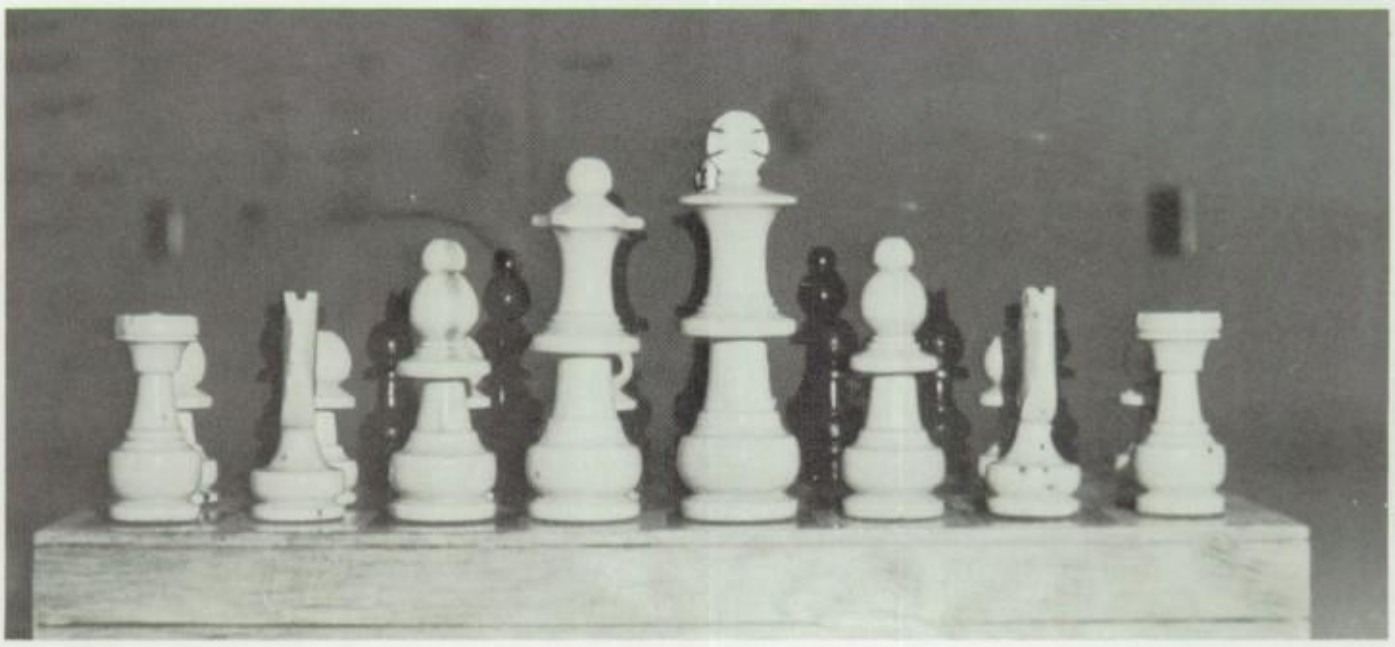
Chess Club

Rick Adams considers another crucial move.

The dedicated early-birds of the school, members of the Chess Club meet at 7:00 AM each Friday morning. These guys REALLY like to play chess. East Central has a reputation of producing fine chess players, and this year is certainly no exception. Our Chess Club members participated in several regional and state tournaments during the past year. Though some people may think chess is boring, to Chess Club members chess is exhilarating.

Fred Parker, Roger Tucker, Jerry Swan.



Library Club

Members are: Rick Longerier, Janelle Dover, Randy Rawlinson, Cathy Grant, Dianne Clark, Janet Wintz, Cheryl Kruse, Beth Kadel.

Although we couldn't do without their fine service, not much credit is given to the members of the library club. Not only do they sort, file, and keep library books in their places, but they also do a great job of making the library a more pleasant place in general.

Sponsor: Mrs. Loyd.

Social Science Club

Back to front, L to R: Danny Smith, David Schwing, Mike Woods, John Edwards, Kenneth Joslin, Mrs. Millier, Pola Krauser, Gina Holleyman, Diane Abbey, Cathy Muckenthaler, Carrie Richards, Michele Angeli, Karen Hart.

One of E. C.'s most unique clubs is Social Science Club. Two nights a month are spent socially, and the remaining two meetings per month are designated as science meetings. This group has visited many places, such as the Children's Medical Center and the American Cancer Association. Visits to "Captain's Cabin" and "Fork in the Road" as well as an annual float trip highlighted the year's events.

Officers: Diane Abbey, Carrie Richards, Tina Brown.

Kingdom Of Art

"King" Phil Martin experiences the joy of silk screen cleaning.

This year art club was more than just a club—it was a royal society. Members elected to be unique by using the officers' titles, "King", "Scribe", and "Countess" instead of the old standbys of "President", "Secretary", and "Treasurer". This club kept busy throughout the year by attending various art shows, holding weekly meetings, and taking part in special projects. One of these projects was the designing and painting of Christmas scenes for the windows of a local McDonald's restaurant.

Art instructor, Linda Wilson, discusses plans for next week's art club meeting.

El Círculo Español

As usual, Spanish club members were busy taking part in the various activities which were sponsored. October brought a wild costume party with members arriving as matadors, troubadors, and Spanish maidens. December followed with a Christmas party complete with piñata and goodies. Of course, the year was not complete without chocolate mexicano y pan dulces which comprised the Spanish breakfast.

Again, E. C.'s French Club had a fun and successful year. "Joyeux Noel" was a common greeting at the elegant five-course Christmas dinner. In January, a cidre et fromage party was a high point for all members. Of course, the year was not complete without the International Dinner, featuring foods from various cultures and lands.

German club members had a great time this year playing the French club in a wild football (?) game. Kris Kringle has never heard such carols as were sung by the German club. Herr Schulte made it a fantastic year with his crazy antics at the picnic this spring. The Foreign Language dinner was another of the highlights of this year.

Today the Greek club, tomorrow, THE WORLD.

Does anyone have a 1951 nickel? That was the oft-heard question at the Greek club Halloween party. On the scavenger hunt the search for a 1951 nickel was quite ghoulish. We discovered that Gary Gildrich was not as innocent as first it appeared. This fictional murderer was terribly spine-tingling. Our sponsor, Mr. Robert Owen, gets right into the spirit of things every time.

Co-presidents Jeannie Morrisey and Bill Mullen. Other officers are Denise Helt and Jane Hildebrand.

Student

Snow-bound student council members pose for a shot.

Council

One of the busiest and most loyal groups at East Central is the Student Council. This energetic group, headed by the ever-ready Valdene Sands, has more energy than a Die-Hard battery. The results of their hard work this year has been more prominent than ever before. The revision of E. C.'s cafeteria was a long time in coming, but the entire student body was affected by this major change. The cafeteria's old image was thrown right out the window as the Student Council worked to create an all-new image. Cardinals and other graphic designs contributed by E. C.'s own commercial art department really brightened the place. Just as great was the serving of ice cream cones, sundaes, and other not-expected foods right in our own cafeteria. In addition to this, the group sponsored school-wide candy sales to raise money for our new and much-needed sound system.

Student Council, you did a great job, and we thank you!

Phil Sallee - Pres., Kevin Easley - Vice pres., Cyndy Carpenter - Rec. Sec., Stephanie Kisselburg - Corr. Sec., Kim Stow - Treas.

Fellowship Of Christian Athletes

F.C.A. may mean Fellowship of Christian Athletes, but to many it means more than just that. Every week a group of Christian kids cram into a house for alot of great singing fellowship and studying the Word. Besides these regular meetings, they also had some special holiday parties, such as the time when they took candy to the kids at the Osteopathic Hospital.

Pep Club

This year various members of the Pep Club roamed the halls with cookies, pillows, and candy-filled tennies and socks to brighten the day for our E. C. athletes. Spirit and cheer were passed out in large portions at the pep assemblies held throughout the year. The entire student body took pride in signing their names to the spirit graffiti signs placed in the round.

Officers: Lisa Laplante - pres., Beth Kadel - V. Pres., Tamara Garcia - Sec., Jayne Haney - Spirit Chairman.

Teri gives her sign of approval.

Again this year the senior cheerleaders worked hard to cheer our teams on to victory and to boost the student body morale. In addition to their constant game attendance, they also worked hard to prepare and carry out our many pep rallies. These girls spent much time in preparation for the cheerleading summer camp, from which they received three superior ribbons and three excellent ribbons. In addition to this, these spirited girls were selected from sixty-four squads to receive a spirit stick.

Note: Due to the nature of this organization, members prefer not to be identified in publications of any sort.

W.O.E. is we - W.O.E. is we!, are the famous last words of many a heathen chemist. Although this group is not an official school organization, chemistry enthusiasts come from miles around just to hear one of "Weird Ward's" lectures. The idol of many a chemistry student is the great Elom, pictured on this page. Since this is an "underground organization", and its members prefer not to be photographed, our yearbook photographer was extremely lucky to get the group shot seen on this page. The leader of this rather eccentric group is Mr. Pat Ward, who is always standing by for a good laugh. A real sport enthusiast, and comedian in his own right, students can easily relate to his brand of teaching.

STRATEGY CLUB

Although this is only the second year for strategy club, this group is going strong. Meeting at 7:15 three mornings a week, this group plays games of strategy and war. In addition to an early morning mental workout, the members also enjoy discussions on controversial subjects, which often lead to heated arguments. Mr. Owen, leader of the strategists, is always available for a discussion of secret weapons.

Hard-working Catalinas in preparation for this year's show and competition.

As usual, the Catalinas have had a "swimmingly" good year. Soon after the commencement of the school year, the sophomore and junior initiates were awakened early one Saturday morning by smiling seniors who greeted them for their yearly come-as-you-are breakfast. The real test came later in the year when the group performed in the All-city Synchronized Swim Competition. Even more strenuous were the many hectic hours spent in preparation for this year's swim show which was titled, "Reflections."

Mo Arm,
What am I going to do without you next year? I'm not going to miss you so much year book just won't be the same. Well all come and visit you though! We had a good time this yr. didn't we? This years yearbook turned out well and ours for next year is finally shaping up. There hasn't been any tears for days. Take care Mo. Arm and I'll see ya next year! love
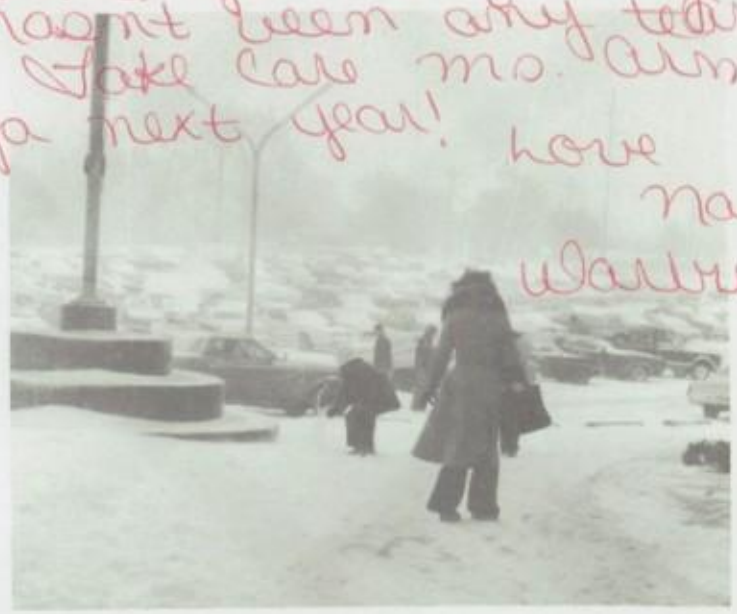
Nancy
Warburton



Hey Mrs. Ann.
Your class has been
One of my favorites
and best grade of all my others. Have a good summer and I'll see ya
next year.
Bette McGehee

WALSWORTH
Marceline, Mo., U.S.A.

Mrs. Armstrong,
It was fun in your class this year. I'll keep in touch next year.

Signed,
Charlie (LORD)

Mrs. Armstrong,
Thanks for having such a fun class this year! You're one of my favorite teachers. I'll see you next year.

Teresa Stewart

To a Terrific Teacher who I've enjoyed listening to in 3rd hour English, which our class didn't get much done since we were making so much noise + you were one of my favorite teachers cause we really didn't have to do much and just mostly had alot of fun so I'll see you next year.

Jeff Bales

I can't believe it's almost summer. I've had a great year in your class. I'll miss you when I'm gone. Have a great summer.

Jenny Galloway

I can't believe it's almost summer. I've had a great year in your class. I'll miss you when I'm gone. Have a great summer.

Jenny Galloway

what did you have to go & chicken out of being y-book sponsor? Now
I can't be in it. I forgive you though. See ya around next year.

Debi Blair
w/e hr.

Mrs. Armstrong,
You're one of my favorite teachers. You get a little jumpy sometimes but I can't say I blame you. Good Luck & God be with ya!
Love "82"
Peggy Simmons

Mrs. Armstrong
You are one of my favorite teachers, and it's been fun in your class with Brooks, Fields, Hunt and the others. Have a good summer.
Love
"82" Linda Coral

Mrs. Armstrong -
This has been a great class. You're such a happy teacher hope I can see you next year. You'll have made a good yearbook this year.
Love
Lori

Mrs. Armstrong,
You're one of my favorite teachers. You make learning fun. I'll see you next year, have a good summer.

Ms. Arm,
So glad to have been in your yearbook class this year. We're really gonna miss you next year. I'll be talking to you about the books more than I'll be talking to Mrs. Klenda! See you next year! Love,
Jeanie

Ms. Armstrong,
Thanks for teaching such a fun English class. Ill miss you next year! Good luck and God be with you in everything you do!

Ms. Arm.
Had fun this year too bad you couldn't be sponsor next year. This has been one of the best years I've had! See you next year
Rick Adams

Mrs. Armstrong
I have had a lot of fun in the class, I mean fun. Even though you may have objected, but that was half the fun of you know. Good luck with Theophus next year and I suggest that you let next year see the year so that next year sophmore grade will be better or they will have an order as next year as the years.
Rick Whitmore !!!

Mrs. Armstrongs,
I've really enjoyed being in your class again this year. It's just not going to be the same without you. I'll miss you a lot. Have fun this summer + take care. Love,
